To Whom It May Concern

Please accept this letter as confirmation of participation in this year's conference, Reproductive Identities and Resistance: Mothers and Others in Culture, Community and Collaboration.

The conference is in partnership with USF on campus and the Museum of Motherhood.

Our International academic planning committee has made arrangements for a robust and exciting curriculum, offering keynotes, presentations, artistic displays and roundtable discussions.

The museum staff has been active in planning the conference and has been involved in all the planning stages of the upcoming events. We have also committed to the full execution of conference details and will be hosting the conference in our space here in St. Petersburg, FL USA and online on Zoom.

We are looking forward to a lively and informative international conference this year with participants from around the world attending and presenting.

We hope this letter will serve in the capacity of receipt of payment for university stipends:

Respectfully,

M. Joy Rose - Founding Director, Museum of Motherhood

On Behalf of the Academic Committee

The Museum of Motherhood is the first and only exhibition and education center devoted to the art, science, and *her*story of women, m/others, and families. We are invested in countering narratives that have kept women less visible. We keep abreast of changing birth technologies and give voice to a mom-made art movement through our actions.
